PLANNING NOTES

These are product sizes, not fixing-hole centres or safety clearances.
Mount the braai on a suitable outdoor masonry wall. Have a competent installer confirm the structure and fixings.
Do not mount it on combustible cladding, a lightweight partition or unsupported plaster.
Leave room to cook and fold.
Confirm the mounting position, wall strength, fixings and safe clear space before fitting.
Check the folded depth and the fixing-hole positions on the actual unit.
Wall fixings are not specified with the unit. Confirm what is needed for your wall.
Use it outdoors in a well-ventilated, open area. This open braai has no chimney or smoke canopy.
Keep people, plants, furniture and other combustible materials clear of the heat.
Fold the pan up as the cover only when the braai is cool and clean.
Included: the back plate, height-adjustment brackets, the grill and the folding ash pan.
We can help you plan the position. Arrange mounting with an independent installer.
